20 METER BAND CONDITIONS AND FT8, by Gerry KA2MGE

Are you into DXing? Do you have FT8 capabilities or are you thinking about trying it? There's been some interesting band conditions on 20 meters lately. There is propagation to Japan and Southeast Asia from 7am-9am local time. This just started recently and hopefully it will continue for a while. According to a propagation model I ran, there is an equal likelihood that the propagation is short path vs. long path. I use a fixed (and low) dipole antenna, so I can't tell which path I've been hearing. See the April Telstar for more information on getting into FT8.
